Conscia Acquires Cybersecurity Company Credocom

Brøndby, 10 September 2020, - Conscia, expert in IT infrastructure and security solutions, acquires the Danish security specialist Credocom.

IT security is high on the strategic agenda of Danish companies and public players. In recent years, Conscia has strengthened the competencies within the security area, with several solution offerings and with a Security Operations Center (SOC). With the acquisition of the security specialist Credocom, an essential step is being taken towards becoming the customer's preferred cyber security partner in the Danish market. Conscia and Credocom will stand strong together and offer deep competencies and broad security solutions.

Cyber security - specialists with competence and credibility

Thomas Grønne, CEO and main shareholder in Credocom, is really pleased about becoming part of Conscia: "In recent years, Credocom has grown to become a reputable specialist in IT security. We come with a solid customer portfolio and a high level of competence. For a long time, I have had ambitions to put further turbo on deliveries in the market, and that can now happen with Conscia. As the coming director of the security business in Conscia, I am very much looking forward to our further journey together. I am confident that with our combined knowledge, credibility and experience, we can help customers even better, both tactically and strategically in relation to the ever-changing threat picture."

A strategic offer to the market

"IT security is today absolutely crucial for doing business. We have all seen many examples of this over the past year," says Mette Louise Kaagaard, CEO of Conscia, and continues: "With the acquisition of Credocom, we significantly increase the value of our security offer to our common customers. We are simply getting stronger on the very basic availability and stability of the customers' IT-setup in the data center, in the network and on the customers' endpoints. The solutions and competencies that Credocom comes with, fit very well into our other strong technologies and deliveries."

A good match

"I look forward to welcoming Credocom's employees to Conscia. The two companies share values, and both have a strong knowledge culture. Both Conscia and Credocom focus sharply on high competence levels and quality, and both have a strong customer focus with long-term customer relationships," continues Mette Louise Kaagaard and explains that for Credocom's customers there is an additional advantage in accessing Conscia's unique services, delivery management and customer portal.
